

Excerpts from PGMA'S Speech during the - MabuhayRadio

Written by Office of the Press Secretary
Thursday, 11 February 2010 11:18 -

Excerpts from PGMA'S Speech during the International Autism Conference Plenary Hall, PICC, Pasay City February 3, 2010 Health "Indeed, there is a need for everyone in the world to better understand autism, so that those afflicted with it, and their families, may be given more sympathy, reassurance and hope." "Filipino doctors and medical personnel are famous and well in demand all over the world. And on top of their competence, Filipino doctors and the rest of our people have an ample supply of heart -- empathy for the sick and the distressed." "As our economy regains its growth momentum, I am more optimistic than ever that more public and private investments will be poured into the different areas of public health, as well as into continuing research on special disorders and diseases." # # # Joomla SEO powered by JoomSEF