The contrast between the poor and the rich is so appalling. I wonder how we Filipinos bear it. A few of the Jax, FL, doctors have returned to the Philippines within the last 5 years. Many are back here. They could not adjust to conditions there. The Catholic church, is partly responsible for the population growth. My experience at two universities, the middle class and the rich do practice birth control, because they have the knowledge. My son, who visited with us in 1998 could not believe the number of malls.
